

Name: Olga Morales-Anaya

Degrees:

A.A. in Liberal Arts, San Jose City College

B.A. in Liberal Studies, San Jose State University

M.A. in Counseling Education, San Jose State University

I went to college because my parents forced me to go and then I continued to attend because I realized I enjoyed learning and knew a college degree would provide me with better career choices.

- My favorite experience was having the opportunity to study abroad. I lived in Mexico City for 2 semesters and studied in China for 6 weeks.
- The hardest things about college were learning how to study and learning how to write a college paper.
- Advice:
 - Go to your professor's office hours frequently
 - Make sure you meet w/ a counselor about majors
 - Travel
 - Get involved in a school activity
